In honor of his wife, Dr. Joe Hennen—BRIT research associate, professor emeritus of botany at Purdue University, and the world's pre-eminent authority on the systematics and biogeography of the rust fungi—has established the Mary M. Hennen Scientific Publications Endowment to provide support to the future of BRIT's scientific publication program. Joe and Mary (life-science librarian at Purdue University) have long recognized that publication of scientific botanical information is an integral part of conserving our natural heritage.

Every gift will make a difference for the future of the BRIT Press. There are many different ways to make a gift: use a credit card, give a check, stock, pledge, bequest, trust, memorials, employer/employee matching contributions, installments, etc. If you are interested in donating to the endowment, please contact us or use this form to add your donation to your subscription payment. The BRIT Press seeks your support to ensure innovation and excellence in preparation, manufacture, and distribution of botanical research and scientific discoveries for the twenty-first century.
